

ECONOMIC PERSUASIONS

Edited by Stephen Gudeman

Contents

Preface

Stephen Gudeman

Chapter 1. Introduction

Stephen Gudeman

Chapter 2. Simplicity in economic anthropology: Persuasion, form and substance

James G. Carrier

Chapter 3. The concept of interest as rhetoric - or as a useful social science concept?

Richard Swedberg

Chapter 4. The new social science imperialism and the problem of knowledge in contemporary economics

William Milberg

Chapter 5. The persuasions of economics

Stephen Gudeman

Chapter 6. Conversations between anthropologists and economists

Metin Cosgel

Chapter 7. “The craving for intelligibility:” Speech and silence on the economy under structural adjustment and military rule in Nigeria

Jane Guyer with LaRay Denzer

Chapter 8. Mass-gifts: On gifts in advanced capitalist markets

Nurit Bird-David and Asaf Darr

Chapter 9. The persuasive power of money

Keith Hart

Chapter 10. The money rhetoric in the United States

Ruben George Oliven

Chapter 11. The third way: A cultural economic perspective

Arjo Klamer

Bibliography

Index